Forecast for Saturday 27 Nov 2021

Weather: A very cold start with glen temperatures around freezing and strong to gale force northerly winds, these touching storm force at first. Snow and hail showers will continue to spread south across all ranges, but mainly focussed across the Cairngorms and Aberdeenshire Hills. Some good sunny spells between these showers which will become increasingly isolated later in the day. Few showers reaching the Perthshire Hills. Clearer spells through evening.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 40 north, 80% south.

Visibility: Snow showers will bring fast changing conditions with visibility dropping to near zero and blizzard conditions within them, but outside the air will have good clarity. Low cloud will be largely confined to in and around showers, but will fall to 300m or so at times.

Met Office Aberdeen Meteorologist's View
Risk of storm force winds confined to early morning. Spells of sunshine will lead to glare off recent fresh snow. Mean wind speeds at 300m and below look too low by 10mph.

Forecast for Sunday 28 Nov 2021
Weather: Another very cold start with clear skies in the south and often in the north too. Some thicker cloud may spread southwards through afternoon to bring the odd snow flurry. Clear spells into the evening. Much lighter winds than previous days.

Maximum wind: West 10-20mph.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 60% north, 90% south.

Visibility: Very little low level cloud in the south, but areas above 600-800m are likely across the north, mainly the Cairngorms.

Temperature: Glens: Around minus 3 or 4 Celsius, rising to plus 2 or 3 Celsius by day.
At 800m: Minus 5 Celsius.
Freezing level: 100-200m.
